GERRY Taylor snatched a thrilling last-lap victory in the Caterham K Series race, a prelude to what should be an exciting season.

Alan Finn and Richard Hay traded the lead initially, then a half spin by Hay gave Taylor the chance he needed to attack Finn.

The lead changed regularly with Taylor getting the upper hand on the last lap, which the top five had started nose to tail. Peter Mangion finished third and Simon Bennet took fourth as Hay took to the grass at Luffield.

The Winter Mini Challenge race was just as exciting, discounting runaway winner Jonathan Lewis. Phil Manser battled long and hard to fend off the advances of David Abbott and Jonathan Lloyd for his second place.

The leading Se7ens almost needed the new 1/1000th of a second timekeeper's kit to separate them. Robert Cullum eventually led home Dave Banwell and Dave Percival.

Colin Pendle (TR8) won the TR Register race as Joe Henderson (TR5) gave chase in vain.

A beaming Mick Hyde and Phil Abbott brought their Radicals home at the head of the

Silverstone PMC

Clubsports 2000 field, a second clear of Les Johnson (Shrike) who had Andrew Darby (AJD) and Richard Gilmour (Mallock) in close attendance.

Bob Simpson (SS Reliant) started from the back of the F750 grid after problems in practice. From there he flew through the field to finish less than 0.2s behind winner Tim Cousins (Darvi).

The Murkett Bros Trophy and WRDA race was won comfortably by Mathew Marsh (Caterham). Martin Davies (Sapphire) was second.

In a reverse of the result from two weeks before, Amanda Whittaker (Formula Lotus) beat Robin Dawe (Vauxhall Lotus) in the Monoposto race.

With a similar change of fortunes, Gary Catt won the BRDC Junior Single Seater race from Mathew Rivett.

Richard Atkinson (Nemesis) was a clear winner of the Eyebury Plate as John Woodward (Tiga 87C) trailed in second.

The day finished with Robert Moulding taking the honours in the Silverstone Peugeot 306 Championship race.
